

EDITORIAL

This is the third issue of Iran Zamin. We hope we have been able to present to your liking, the works of our respected scholars. Our Farsi section has been very productive and thought provoking, because of the kind support of the Farsi writing scholars. Unfortunately we have not been able to translate their work in time into English but we hope to get help and be able to do it.

Here I once again request our English writing scholars to participate in our effort to spread the true message of Ancient Iran to the English-speaking world. The Ancient Iranian Culture and Religion is being misinterpreted nine out of ten times in the media and they educate the world with their misconception. We intend to make IRAN ZAMIN a source of reference for the seekers of information. By having a theme topic we are trying to classify subject-wise and get the views of our scholars. We need to reach out to the world with the views of as many scholars as possible, so that next time they want to refer to the ancient Iranian culture or religion they don't classify it as a Cult or call Farvaha the picture of Ahura Mazda.

Iran Zamin is distributed without Subscription fee but we would like to send it to only those who are interested. It is true we have your address but we don't know if you like to receive it. So if you have not filled in the subscription form but are interested in receiving a complimentary copy, please do so.

The topic for our next issue that is due in October 2001 will be "KNOWLEDGE IN ANCIENT IRAN AND ITS INFLUENCE ON THE WORLD". We need to show how Iran, as a super power, was instrumental in shaping the progress of the world.

Khordad Baad
Fariborz Rahnamoon